

Activities

An activity is a single visual user interface component, including things such as menu selections, icons, and checkboxes

Every screen in an application is an extension of the Activity class

Use Views to form graphical user interfaces that display information and respond to user actions